

Using Art in the Research Process: A story of being inclusive and disseminating research findings through poetry and visual representation

The task

What happened?

So what?

